

Seamus, All

One of the outcomes of the Council 59 meeting this week was that Council will approve the IALA Dictionary, treating it as the same category as a Manual. However it was also acknowledged that the Dictionary is a living document and would be updated continually in the course of Committee and volunteer work on it.

One way to handle this might be to have a Council-approved Dictionary on the website or Wiki, and a work-in-progress Dictionary on the Wiki.

Seamus I agree that we must update the Dictionary Group, and maybe give it a better name.

Wim, Could we add this matter to the PAP 29 Agenda please.

Regards
Mike

Omar,

I had a look at the link below. Perhaps this needs to be a bit easier to find on the Wiki.

At ENG1 Simon Millyard agreed to act as Dictionary Editor. I attach the PAP22 draft Dictionary procedures for Simons information.

On the Dictionary Wiki, the Dictionary Group is listed as follows:

- Ómar Frits Eriksson (Chair)
- Marie-Hélène Grillet
- Tuncay Çehreli
- Seamus Doyle (retired since then)
- Nick Ward
- Paul Ridgway (now retired)

Simon should probably replace Paul in this list. And Doyle?

At PAP22 It was agreed that if an editor can be identified and funded, then the Dictionary group should meet with him / her to decide how to proceed.

So, with Simon as Editor, the next step is to arrange this meeting (GoToMeeting?). Does funding need to be addressed? Then update the procedures as input to PAP29.

Best wishes
Seamus.
